

Joseph J. Kienle

Director of Market Center Services and System Optimization
Dominion Transmission Inc.

Joseph Kienle is director of Market Center Services and System Optimization for Dominion Transmission Inc. (DTI) and has over 30 years of experience in the oil and gas industry. Presently, Mr. Kienle directs the optimization and planning of contractual and operating facility activities. He is also responsible for the park and loan activity for the interstate pipeline and short-term marketing.

Prior to this, Mr. Kienle was the director of business development. He was responsible for developing Dominion's underground storage, transportation and LNG projects from conception to completion. This included conducting engineering studies, economic analyses, capital funding requests, acquiring regulatory approvals and customer contracts.

Mr. Kienle was CNG/Sabine's general manager in Houston. He was responsible for the daily and commercial operation of the joint venture trading partnership with Texaco. In 1993, he joined CNG Transmission as the manager, Interstate Marketing for the Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia markets and was located in Cleveland, Ohio.

Before joining CNG Transmission, he worked for East Ohio Gas and SOHIO (BP America).

Mr. Kienle is a registered professional engineer in Ohio. He has a Bachelor of Science in mechanical engineering and in business administration from the Ohio State University.