Reliability Standards and Compliance Subcommittee
Forum Etiquette

As in any community, mutual respect and cooperation are key elements to success. Write comments in an unbiased and respectful manner. Be straightforward and sincere, and assume good faith. Good faith is about intentions, so keep in mind that well-meaning people make mistakes.

Personal insults, verbal attacks, and generally disrespectful, offensive, or abusive messages will be edited or deleted by forum moderators. Repeated violations will result in temporary suspension of forum access, eventually leading to being banned from forums. Spam messages will be deleted immediately, and the user account will be disabled in the forums. To report inappropriate behavior or content, contact PJM [http://www.pjm.com/about-pjm/who-we-are/contact-us.aspx].

Do

1. Respect others.
2. Share what you know.
3. Encourage each other.
4. Ask for help and help others in return.

Don't

1. Infringe on any copyright PJM or otherwise. Submit only original material that you create and own.
2. Use obscene or offensive language.
3. Personally attack people, their edits, or their comments.
4. Post anything you don't want the others to see.
5. Be afraid to identify errors or shortcomings in PJM content. We need to know!
