

FTR Center – Credit Study Overview

Credit Study Tool

- This tool can help participants estimate their FTR credit requirement for positions prior to submitting the bids into an auction.
- Submitting bids for a credit study is done similarly to submitting bids in a Market- however, you will need to submit the bids to the Market that ends with “Credit Study”
- Please note that these submissions to the Credit Study Market are NOT officially submitted bids. In order for the bids to be considered for the Auction you MUST submit them to the Market during the live-bid window.
- Credit study markets for annual and long term FTR auction rounds will be opened on the first day of the month prior to the month that the auction round is conducted in. Monthly FTR auction credit study markets will be opened on the first day of the month that the auction is conducted in.
