Reason for change:

PJM finds a gap and suboptimal status quo to exist in defining the submission time for exception requests supporting offers submitted in excess of $1000/MWh. Due to the long nature of recent winter events, the goal is to soften this timeline to allow Market Sellers time to recover from these events while also providing rigidity and certainty to the closure of these submissions/events.

The current timeline was originally written in 2017 during the inception of the Offer Verification process. During this initial period, prior to PJM's latest Markets Gateway functionality development, actual offer data and supporting documentation needed to be submitted in SharePoint. Given the aforementioned changes, the deadline for requesting make whole payments as currently detailed in Manual 11 should be updated given the enhanced functionality in Markets Gateway.

Summary of the changes:

To update and align the language and timeline in Manual 11, Attachment D and Section 2.3.6.2 Resource Energy Offer Validation (for offers greater than $1,000/MWh) to reflect the same timeline in defining the exception request process timeline (60 calendar days). Also, Attachment D is updated to reflect the latest Fuel Price Exceptions Markets Gateway functionality and defer to email as a backup in the event of tool issues.
